Online/Distance Education (Asynchronous)

This online course is an introduction to statistics. Topics include measurement of variables, testing hypotheses, descriptive statistics, normal distribution, sampling, significance levels, and indicating appropriate quantitative analytical methods. Emphasis is given to how statistics can aid the social work practitioner. This course can also meet the statistics requirement for admission to the master's program.

*For the above noted course the successful candidate will have:

- i. MSW from an accredited social work program and a minimum two years post-MSW experience
- ii. PhD in Social Work
- iii. Demonstrated teaching experience in statistics and online course delivery

Fall 2024:

*SWRK 1170-01, Meeting Human Needs through Social Welfare

Tuesdays and Thursdays, 2:30 PM – 3:50 PM

This course examines the historical, philosophical, and political aspects of the development and delivery of the Canadian Social Welfare System. Special attention will be focussed on ways to identify and assess the needs of, and services to, vulnerable populations within the context of social and cultural diversity.

*SWRK 3340-01, Social Work with Children

Mondays, 2:30 PM – 5:20 PM

This course is designed to provide students with knowledge and understanding of social work practice with children. The focus is upon the development of a framework of knowledge for making practice decisions involving the child client. The design, implementation, and evaluation of alternative social work intervention strategies are included. The special set of techniques utilized in social work practice with children will be highlighted.

For the above noted courses the successful candidate will have:

- i. MSW from an accredited social work program and a minimum two years post-MSW experience
